

Rainbow Planet – Royton and Crompton's very own LGBT+ group presents:

TALKING TRANS

Who is: Dr Clara Barker [She/Her]

"I manage the Centre for Applied Superconductivity, in the materials department at Oxford University.

I am the vice chair of the LGBT+ advisory group at Oxford University and in 2018 I won the first diversity role model award from the University. I run a youth group for LGBTI+ people, with a support group for their parents. I give many talks in schools and within the University sharing my story or explaining "LGBTI+ 101's". I share my story as a trans scientist who, for so long, believed that coming out as transgender would be career ending."

What: A talk and questions with Dr Clara Barker, refreshments, music.

Who: Supporters (allies) and members of our LGBT+ community and parents.

When: Tuesday 26th November 3.30-4.30

Where: Royton and Crompton Academy Training Room
